

Contents

Acknowledgments	viii
Introduction. Historians Reassess Totalitarianism Theory Manuela L. Ungureanu	1
Part I. Main Paradigms and Their Evolving Fortunes
Chapter 1. Remarks on the Historiography of Rapid Political and Social Change Daniel Little	25
Chapter 2. Carl Friedrich's Path to "Totalitarianism" Stephen Turner	42
Chapter 3. Soviet Society, Social Structure, and Everyday Life: Major Frameworks Reconsidered Mark Edele	60
Chapter 4. The GDR: A Special Kind of Modern Dictatorship Jürgen Kocka	79
Chapter 5. Totalitarian Syndrome as a Case of an Essentially Contested Concept: An Overview of Discussions Held in the Humanities and Social Sciences in Poland Krzysztof Brzechczyn	88
Chapter 6. Framing the Rising Discontent with Totalitarianism Theory: The View from Social Ontology Manuela L. Ungureanu	107
Chapter 7. Totalitarianism and the Historians Charles Turner	130
Chapter 8. Why I Say "Totalitarian Regimes": A Response to Totalitarianism Denial Aviezer Tucker	145

Part II. Approaches to Control, Legitimation of Power, and Forms of Resistance

- Chapter 9. Beyond Totalitarianism: Rethinking Approaches to the GDR and the Nazi Past 165
Mary Fulbrook
- Chapter 10. The Soviets Abroad: The NKVD, Intelligence, and State Building in East-Central Europe after World War II 185
Molly Pucci
- Chapter 11. Postwar Show Trials: The Apogee of Totalitarianism or Political Processes? 202
Barbara J. Falk
- Chapter 12. The Communist Public Sphere: A Sociolegal Analysis 221
Mihaela Șerban
- Chapter 13. Industrialization, Independence, Identity: Legitimation of Power in Communist Romania, 1965–1971 237
Dragoș Petrescu
- Chapter 14. Homo Sovieticus and the Greengrocer: On Varieties of Dissident Critique of Post-totalitarian Political Culture 254
Piotr Wciślik
- Chapter 15. On the Origins of “Totalita”: A Social Epistemology of a Nonconcept 271
Muriel Blaive

Part III. Soviet-Style Institutions for Higher Education and Research and the Powers of the New Elites

- Chapter 16. The Counterintuitive Effects of Soviet Totalitarianism: Soviet Universities during Late Stalinism, 1945–1953 291
Benjamin Tromly
- Chapter 17. Sergei Vavilov and the Soviet Modes of Science Production 309
Alexei Kojevnikov
- Chapter 18. A Friendship inside Romanian Academia under Cultural Stalinism: Mihai Ralea and Tudor Vianu 325
Cristian Vasile
- Chapter 19. Gatekeeping Institutions of Literary Translation in Soviet Ukraine 341
Valentyna Savchyn

Chapter 20. Intellectual Autonomy in Socialist Romania: Theories, Methods, and the Case Study of Sociology after 1966	357
Adela Hîncu
Chapter 21. Writing Contemporary History in Late Socialist Hungary: Dissecting Institutional Legacies	371
Réka Krizmanics
Chapter 22. “The Tale of Two Cities”: The Historical Multicultural Bucharest versus the Communist Capital of Romania	389
Cristina Petrescu
Afterword. The Makings of Rethinking the Historiography of the Soviet Bloc , or How to Take Stock of an Elephant and Still Keep Your Bearings	406
Manuela L. Ungureanu
Index	414